Professional Growth. D: Professional Growth Review

Part of the Professional Growth Framework from Chris Moyse.

Reflections

What did you intend to achieve this year?

Comments:
To improve my challenge within written and verbal feedback for students

What did you do to move toward achieving this aim?

Comments:
I arranged peer observation sessions to see how my colleagues with the same students were able to stretch and challenge.
I also attended a CPD session focusing on challenge within verbal feedback.
Through work scrutiny and moderation I have been actively asking for feedback regarding the stretch and challenge I am providing for students within my marking.

What did you do to move toward achieving this aim?

Focus areas allow for staff to upload reflections, resources and actions in “View” mode. This allows staff to upload relevant evidence, or set follow up reminders or meetings.

No outcome sets are linked to this focus area.

Using no outcomes encourages staff to reflect on their practice.

Comments entered within Focus areas can be seen in the “details” section of reports.

What has the impact been on students' learning?

Impact

What has the impact been on students' learning?

Comments:
Students have improved their deeper learning skills and expect to be challenged on their responses. This allows them to form a deeper level of understanding.

Rather than focusing on individual practice, this focus area allows staff to reflect on their current groups and think about what their particular needs are. Doing this can encourage staff to focus on specific T&L aspects in relation to their group needs.

No outcome sets are linked to this focus area.

Using no outcomes encourages staff to reflect on their practice.

Recommendations for Colleagues

*What would you recommend colleagues to do if they focus on this area of development?
How could your findings be successfully implemented in other contexts?*

Comments:

I would recommend arranging peer observation sessions, it was extremely useful to see how my colleague were able to do this with the same students from my class.
